→ RADIANT ENTERPRISE IS AN AUSTRALIAN owned, family company that has been in operation since November 1998, providing quality door frames, doors and architectural hardware and the associated services which go into making their products a practical reality.

Radiant Enterprise have developed a high level of expertise, achieved by undertaking a large number of diverse projects such as hospitals, schools, military installations, apartment blocks, shopping centres, and sporting and recreational facilities. Radiant Enterprise have their own modern, purpose built frame and door manufacturing facility, and are well placed to meet any architectural door frame requirement in the market place. This combined with their quality doors and architectural hardware service makes for a winning combination.

Radiant Enterprise have recently provided their full range of services for the Pacific Square project in Maroubra, manufacturing, supplying and installing timber doors, fire doors, steel doorframes and architectural door hardware.

Radiant Enterprise can manufacture, supply and install non fire rated doors for a variety of installations, manufactured to AS2688. Solid core internal (particleboard), solid core external (HMR) and hollow core (honeycomb) doors are available, all with internal edge rails.

Radiant Enterprise offer a multitude of facing finishes for non rated doors, including MDF, paint ply, selected veneers, moulded panels and metal sheeting. Variations such as vision panels, air grilles, stable doors and bi fold doors are available on non rated doors.

Radiant Enterprise also supply and install fire rated doors, conforming to AS1905.1. They are available as single configuration only mini doors (35mm), single and double configuration maxi doors (45mm) and single and double configuration maxi doors (45mm).

Fire rated doors can be finished with an array of aesthetic but protective finishes. MDF is available in one hour only. Paint ply, selected veneers and metal sheeting are all available in one, two, three or four hour rated configurations. All fire rated doors are prepared for the specified hinges, locks and door closer. Vision panels and air grilles are available in a limited range for fire rated doors.

Radiant Enterprise also manufacture and supply a wide range of non rated and fire rated steel door frames. All frames are fully welded, primed and sealed with silicon to prevent mortar seepage, and with Radiant's versatile frame manufacturing plant, they offer virtually any combination of frame imaginable.

Radiant Enterprise's standard range of doorframes includes stud frames, brick/block frames, sliding door frames and double action frames. These are available in many materials, including zinc anneal, galvanised steel, mild steel (high security) and stainless steel. All frames incorporate hinge options, from welded hinges to backing plates for screw fixed hinges, lift off hinges, special access hinges and transom closer preparations. Radiant's frames utilise a universal strike, compatible with most locks, and also offer preparations for high security electronic access strikes. Radiant also offers a range of fixing options for all applications.

Radiant Enterprises supply architectural hardware services to the market place under the brand name Hardware Technologies. Hardware technologies provide products and services including architectural hardware scheduling. They provide comprehensive architectural hardware products and solutions, including cylindrical locks, mortice locks, an extensive range of levers, pull handles/entrance handles, and door closers.

They provide a complete range of electronic locking systems including hotel systems, key authentication systems (elelogic systems), restricted Keying systems (Grand Master Keying, Master Keying, Maison Keying). This service is provided using Hardware technologies' own broach and key blanks.

"Radiant Enterprise welcomes the opportunity to work with you on your next project," said Mr. Arun Comello, Managing Director.
