

GEM JOINERY FROM PLAN TO PERFECTION

In a highly competitive construction industry, Gem Joinery Pty Ltd has carved a reputation for turning vision into precision. With more than a decade of experience, the family-owned, Sydney-based company continues to set benchmarks in custom joinery, delivering beautiful, functional, and durable solutions across residential and commercial sectors, under guidance of Director Alan Najjar.

At the heart of Gem Joinery's success is their commitment to quality craftsmanship and tailored service. From kitchens and wardrobes to bathroom vanities, laundry fit-outs, and custom storage, every element is fabricated using Italian machines, premium materials and European hardware in their state-of-the-art facility located in Condell Park, NSW.

"We don't just meet expectations; we exceed them," says Office Manager, Hana Houalla, and the results speak for themselves. With the capacity to produce up to 50 kitchens per week, Gem Joinery manages projects at scale without compromising on detail. Every installation is overseen by experienced site supervisors to ensure seamless coordination between joiners, builders, and installers.

Projects like Ruby Burwood, Portico Cronulla, and Ed.Square at Edmondson Park showcase Gem Joinery's ability to deliver consistent excellence across multi-stage, high-density developments. From concept to completion, their team works collaboratively with project stakeholders, delivering joinery packages that are on time, defect-free, and visually striking.

Beyond their technical capabilities, what truly sets Gem Joinery apart is their client-centric approach. Estimators provide transparent, realistic pricing. Designers help translate ideas into 3D concepts. And builders trust them to deliver on programme.

The company's growth trajectory shows no signs of slowing. Gem Joinery prides themselves on working on and having the capacity to facilitate multiple multi-million dollar projects at once. Their current residential projects high-end developments in Cronulla, Lane Cove, and Mona Vale, Gem Joinery continues to prove why they're the go-to name in Sydney joinery.

As their motto states: "You imagine, we deliver." Gem Joinery turns blueprints into built realities — every time.
